Dense Fog Covers City, State; Scores of Accidents Reported

Gas Truck Overturns South of Mansfield

A "pea-soup" fog rivaling the best London can produce blanketed Mansfield and the rest of Ohio early today.

The fog caused the death of an aged man at Cincinnati, a 40-car pile-up near Niles and an accident on State Route 13, four miles south of Mansfield. Scores of minor traffic mishaps were reported.

The weather bureau said the worst of the fog was in the Columbus and central portions of the state and in the Toledo area. The "soup," the weather bureau explained, was the result of a rapid drop in temperature because of the absence of a good cloud cover.

The weatherman said, however, that indications are for a pleasant and comfortable week end despite the inauspicious start. Sunny and mild is the forecast for today. Rain was seen possible tomorrow.

A gasoline truck, owned by the Canfield Oil company of Mansfield and driven by Clarence Lineberry, 36, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, swerved to avoid hitting two other vehicles, left the road, and overturned spilling 3,000 gallons of gasoline, according to state highway patrolmen. The accident occurred at 4:10 a. m.

It was a field day for farmers in the community as they turned out this morning with buckets to scoop the high-priced fuel out of a ditch.

According to the patrolmen's report, the tractor of the semi-truck was completely demolished and considerable damage was done to the trailer. Lineberry escaped with minor bruises.

CAR IN DITCH

Patrolmen said that prior to the accident a car driven by Marvin Knowlton, 21, of 17 West Williams avenue, stuck in a ditch beside the highway. Knowlton had gone to sleep in the back seat.

Wallace Hackett, 27, of Ashland, a passing motorist, stopped to assist Knowlton. He and George Shields, 39, of 301 Home avenue, a passenger in Hackett's car, pulled Knowlton's car out of the ditch.

Patrolmen said both cars apparently were left on the roadway, one in each traffic lane. Lineberry, driving through heavy fog, apparently failed to see the cars until he was nearly up to them, patrolmen said. Then he swerved to avoid a collision and his truck left the road, according to patrolmen.

South of Niles, nearly 40 cars piled into each other on State Route 46 as the dense fog cut visibility to less than 10 feet.

According to eye witness Ben James, editor of the Niles Daily Times, "It was impossible to see the cars in front of you until it was too late, despite the fact that everyone was traveling at a snail's pace,"

He said the cars were strung out on the route for more than 100 yards. Oddly enough, no one was injured although damage to the cars wes expected to run into the thousands of dollars. Ten cars had to be towed away.

Eighty-year-old William Deatwood, an inmate of the Hamilton county home at Cincinnati, was killed and his body run over repeatedly by cars early this morning. An examining physician said the body had been dragged 75 feet and had been on the road for several hours before being discovered by a motorist.

The fog centered on Cincinnati and spread in a huge circle from the Kentucky border to Cairo, Indianapolis and Columbus.

Microfilm Find Spurs Spy Hunt

Pumpkin Yields Prized Evidence

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The House Un-American Activities committee said today it has dug up evidence identifying the person who slipped secret state department papers to a self-described communist agent before the war.

★

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Midget films of secret state department papers, pulled from a pumpkin by an admitted former communist agent, have suddenly set the red spy hunt going again in Congress.

The House Un-American Activities committee took to the radio and telephone to round up members for more hearings.

From Whittaker Chambers, a Time magazine editor who says he used to be a communist courier, the committee got more documents to add to those produced from microfilms he hid in a hollow pumpkin in his Westminster, Md., farm.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.), a committee member, said the microfilms alone provide "definite proof" of the existence of "one of the most extensive espionage rings in the history of the United States.

The state and justice departments had no immediate comment.

In a statement last night, Mundt also said:

1. The committee had uncovered "shocking" evidence that before the war "secret documents of direct significance to our national security were fed out of the state department by a member of the communist underground to Whittaker Chambers." The underground member wasn't identified.

2. There are indications that "a final conclusion is imminent in the long-discussed Hiss-Chambers espionage case."

3. He is trying to line up other members to revive the spy hearings at the earliest possible date.

Mundt indicated that microfilm copies of top-secret diplomatic notes and reports were turned over to "Russian communist agents." Whether the films obtained from Chambers were additional copies, he didn't say.

But he did add:

"These documents are of such startling and significant importance, reveal such a vast network of communist espionage within the state department, that they far exceed anything yet brought before the committee in is ten-year history."

He said U. S. agents have been after the microfilms for ten years, and that the committee now has them under guard around the clock.

"WE'VE LOST OUR HOME"—That's what the five young children of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McClain were thinking as they sat disconsolately on the charred foundation that until Thursday had been a part of their home on Cairns road. Flash Fire Hits Dorm

1,000 Sailors Flee to Street

BOSTON — (AP) — Fire swept sections of the first three floors of the nine-story Fargo naval building early today driving more than 1,000 sailors and officers to the street.

Three sailors were injured fighting the blaze before firemen arrived. None appeared to be seriously hurt Several were reported overcome by smoke. They were treated at the barracks' hospital.

Naval attaches said the fire apparently started on the second floor and burst into first and third floor quarters before it was controlled after a two-hour battle.

The structure houses first naval district headquarters. Officers and sailors sleeping quarters are in the building.

A seaman discovered the flames. He wakened all in the barracks. Three alarms brough fire fighting equipment from many sections of the city.

Damages were estimated at $50,000.

Rioters Kill Cairo Chief

CAIRO—(UP)—The commander of Cairo police, Selim Zaki Pasha, has been killed by a bomb thrown by rioting students, it was announced officially today.

The student riots broke out early today for the fifth straight day following the Sudan government's refusal to allow an Egyptian lawyers' mission to go to Khartoum, the Sudan capital.

Gunfire and explosions were audible in the center of Cairo as the students demonstrated. At Faud El Awal university, students broke into the president's office and smashed furniture. At the college of medicine, rifle and grenade fire was heard. Smoke could be seen rising from the building. Police reinforcements cordoned off the area.

Flames Level Unfinished Home

Fire Wrecks Holiday Dreams of 5 Children

By NITA BRANSON

A small, green glass pitcher stands intact on the charred foundation, the only thing left of the new home that three days ago housed the R. H. McClain family on Cairns road, north of Mansfield. Fire destroyed the home Thursday.

Within the still smoldering ruins are the ashes of a little yellow kitten, the beloved playmate of the McClain's four-year-old son, Larry Dean, one of five children in the home.

Today Larry wonders what has happened to his pet and his parents are wondering how to pay off the mortgage on the home they have been working so hard to build since last May and have enough left to start another one.

The father, a yard foreman for the B. and O. railroad had five rooms of their planned eight-room house finished. A few days ago he had helped install a new automatic furnace in the house. When he and Mrs. McClain left home on an errand, taking Larry Dean with them, everything seemed fine.

But tragedy struck when the McClains drove back along the beautiful Cairns road and saw nothing left of their home but the charred ruins. Neighbors had rallied when they saw the fire but found it too late to put out the blaze.

"We have no idea how the fire started," Mrs. McClain said today. "The furnace was wrapped in asbestos with sand on top. There was nothing that we knew of that could have started a blaze."

GIFTS BURN, TOO

In the ruins of their home are all their furniture, their clothing and about $50 worth of baby clothes given to Mrs. McClain in a shower party Wednesday night. Mrs. McClain is an expectant mother.

Today the McClains are trying to work things out at the home of McClain's brother, Floyd, in Little Washington, southeast of the city.

The seven-year-old McClain twins, Loretta and Arletta, dark-eyed, dimpled youngsters, find the situation particularly disturbing. They have parts in the Christmas play at the Terman school near their home north of town. Mother had drilled them in their lines and they are letter perfect.

"We have that problem worked out, though," Mrs. McClain said today. "My husband is going to work in Mansfield every night with a brother-in-law and I'm going to drive the children the 10 miles to Terman school every day until after the Christmas play has been given."

Ronald, 12, and Charles, 10, will go along and attend school as long as their mother can drive them.

WANT YULE TREE

But Christmas is coming, and the children are wondering about a Christmas tree.

They can share the tree with relatives, but that's not the same, as having a nice warm home, and their own little tree wtih gifts piled round it on Christmas morning.

So far, the children have been given enough clothing to keep them warm.

"We are not worrying right now about that," Mrs. McClain said "It's our home. We haven't yet decided what to do. This was the worst piece of luck that ever happened to us."

Berliners To Vote Tomorrow

Election Seen East-West Test

BERLIN—(AP)—Western Berliners vote tomorrow for a new city administration in their "island of freedom" 100 miles inside the Soviet army's ramparts in Europe.

Blockaded Berlin is going to have a legal election that the Russians couldn't stop.

The ballot is merely a list of three anti-communist parties competing for municipal jobs.

But the east-west struggle for Germany has made the local political contest a straw in the wind to show which side the Germans prefer.

If a high percentage of voters appears at the polls, the United States, Britain and France will claim German indorsement of their fight against Russian efforts to Sovietize Berlin.

If the voting is relatively meager, communists will hail it as a vindication of Russian efforts to force the western Allies out of the city.

But no western observer expects the communists to admit a reverse, no matter how many Berliners ignore their demand to boycott the election.

Meanwhile the Soviet propaganda machine swung into high gear today with a quickly-denied report that Allied troops will quit the city within five weeks.

U. S. military officials promptly branded the report "ridiculous."

(In London, a British foreign office official termed the report a "clumsy, transparent propaganda attempt" to influence tomorrow's elections.

(The same attitude was shown regarding a broadcast by the Soviet-controlled Leipzig radio reporting that U. S. military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay has been relieved of his command.)

An American military spokesman said the Russian reports were nothing more than an attempt by the Soviets to "intimidate" the people of western Berlin.

The Russian-controlled station quoted "well-informed sources in Paris," it said, according to Reuters, that Clay's replacement, although certain, will not be announced until "after the Berlin-splitting election."

Piano Duet By Trumans Wows Party

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The piano team of President Truman and daughter Margaret wowed 'em.

They played a duet last night—"The Jenny Lind Polka"—at a National Press club dinner for fathers and daughters where they were honor guests.

The crowd loved it. And no one had a better time than the Trumans. "Daddy taught me this when I was about 10," Margaret explained, "and I don't think we have played it since."

A singer of some renown, Miss Truman got a big laugh when she said before starting the duet: "I do belong to a union, so I got special dispensation to do this with a non-union member."

Then they went at it, slowly, deliberately. And when they were done they got a big ovation.

Fear Many Dead In Island Quake

MAZATLN, Mexico — (UP) — The governor of the Marias Islands penal colony radioed today that he feared many of the 400 prisoners and civilian employes of the colony had been killed as the result of an earthquake which destroyed 90 per cent of the islands' buildings last night At least one death definitely was reported from the four islands, which are situated in the Pacific 40 miles off the coastal city. The prison's radio station chief was killed when the station building collapsed.

After Dark With City's Patrolmen

What happens at night on a policeman's beat?

To get an answer to that question, a reporter spent a night with the Mansfield police force. His findings are presented tomorrow in a Sunday News-Journal picture-story.

A mysterious ball and chain has Plymouth residents agog. The details will be told in an illustrated Sunday feature. In addition there will be several pages of pictures and articles on area events and activities.

Also in the 40-page edition will be city and area society, sports, outdoors, amusement and building pages, plus complete local and world news coverage.

Seek Tight Traffic Law

Group Requests Five Measures

COLUMBUS. — (UP) — The Ohio Traffic Safety council today urged the general assembly to pass legislation which would tighten and improve the state's traffic and safety laws. The five resolutions passed unanimously yesterday by the legislative and co-ordinating committees of the council urge:

1. That not less than $100,000 be appropriated annually for highway safety work and that the appropriation be earmarked for safety work.

2. That the reporting of all accidents to the state highway department be made compulsory.

3. That the state highway director be given authority to regulate parking on rural highways.

4. That the legal age for issuance of chauffeur's licenses be changed from 16 to 18 years of age.

5. That a motor vehicle inspection law regulating standards for the operation of vehicles be passed.

Union Head Dies

PRESSMEN'S HOME, Tenn —(AP)—George L. Berry, 65-year old president of the International Printing Pressmen's union, died last night. The labor leader, at one time a member of the U. S. senate, had been active head of the union almost continuously since 1907 when he was first elected president.

Steamer Blows Up Amidships

Loaded With War Refugees

SHANGHAI — (AP) — A small ship crammed with Chinese war refugees exploded and sank just outside Shanghai late last night, with a toll expected to exceed 3,200 lives.

If reports are even approximately accurate, it was the worst marine disaster in modern history.

Some 4,250 Chinese were reported aboard the ship, the China Merchant Steamship company's 2,099-ton Kiangya. It blew up amidships and sank in less than an hour near the mouth of the Yangtze river.

A company spokesman said the Kiangya had a capacity of 1,186 passengers but that it was "officially" carrying 2,250—mostly from Nanking. He said another estimated 2,000 clambered aboard at Shanghai. There seemed no way of determining just how many.

Late tonight, as six Chinese rescue boats bobbed about the shattered superstructure extending out of the chill waters, about 200 bodies were reported recovered and at least 3,000 were reported still missing.

Between 100 and 400 have been reported rescued thus far.

Cause of the blast had not been determined. The welter of reports advanced several reasons—communist sabotage, an underwater mine, or an explosion of overstrained boilers.

It was the first major disaster in the frenzied exodus from Shanghai and Nanking. Both cities are menaced by Chinese communist armies now engaged in critical—possibly decisive—battles less than 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

JAMMED WITH REFUGEES

The steamship had sailed from Shanghai en route to Ningpo (Ninghsien), about 200 miles south of here. It was jammed with Shanghai and Nanking residents attempting to reach the relative safety of Chekiang province.

A company spokesman said the Kiangya's capacity was 1,186 passengers. He added, however, that thousands of refugees had swarmed aboard on each of the ship's trips in recent weeks despite efforts to hold a safety limit.

The spokesman said the vessel had carried at least 4,000 passengers on each of its previous trips, and that there were at least that many aboard this time.

Survivors — some of whom were injured—reported the ship went down shortly after a tremendous explosion. One survivor said it might have been sabotage, because he noticed two junks passing the stern of the ship a few minutes earlier.

He said they might have loosed a mine Shipping men were inclined to blame overstrained boilers for the blast.

The ship's wireless was unaccountably out of commission, and its plight was not learned until a passing coastal vessel, the Hwa Foo, sighted the smoking ship.

Readies T-H Substitute

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Secretary of Labor Tobin today awaited the views of the CIO as he prepared substitute labor legislation for the Taft-Hartley law.

CIO President Philip Murray and his top aides are expected to confer with the Labor department chief within the next few days. The AFL already has submitted its suggestions.

Tobin conferred with AFL President William Green, AFL Secretary-Treasurer George Meany, Daniel Tracy, president of the AFL Electrical Workers, and George Harrison, president of the railway clerks.

The AFL chiefs told Tobin they wanted: 1. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley law; 2. Reenactment of the old Wagner act; 3. Then discussion of amendments to the Wagner law. The federation leaders also made it clear that their views for legislation going beyond the Wagner act were similar to President Truman's 1947 recommendations to Congress.

Mystery Shot Hits Columbus Resident

COLUMBUS— (INS) —Edward T. Coleman, 50, was shot in the back of the head early today as he sat in the dining room of his Columbus home. Police said they had made no arrests in connection with the shot which penetrated Coleman's head just behind the left ear.

University hospital attendants listed his condition as "serious."

City Will Be Barbershop Harmony Capital Tonight

Close harmony takes the spotlight in Mansfield today as barbershop quartets from far and near invade the city for the "Parade of Quartets" scheduled for tonight.

Ten units of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing of America will present programs in two school auditoriums. One program will begin at 7:45 p. m. at Senior high school and the other at 8:15 at John Simpson junior high school.

Headquarters of the singers is the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Tickets for the harmony harvest will be on sale at the doors of both auditoriums after 6:30 p. m., it was announced by Ralph Hughes, an officer of the local SPEBSQSA chapter.

Among the contestants tonight will be the Pittsburghers who won the international competition this year, and the Buzz Saws of Columbus who won the district contest last year.

Hughes explained that invitations were sent to district quartets prior to the district competition. Three of the quartets afterward became district winners. They are the first-place Jolly Fellows of Dayton, the Tigertown Four of Massillon, runners-up, and the Steel Blenders of Lorain.

Last year's international champions, the Doctors of Harmony, also will be on the program.

The other three units are the Memory Laners of Canton, the Yachtsmen of Lakewood, and the Staff Riders of Mansfield.

Orders for tickets have been coming in at a fast rate, Hughes said. A large number of orders have been received from other cities which have units of the barbershop quartet organization

Shows similar to the one to be presented tonight have drawn large audiences in other cities. Indications are that the "standing room only" signs will go up at both auditoriums tonight, SPEBSQSA officials said.

Auto Makers Again Hit Top Production

DETROIT — (AP) — The auto industry got back into high production ground again this week despite the closing of some Chevrolet assembly lines for model change-over.

United States factories built approximately 118,000 cars and trucks. Ward's Automotive reports estimated the total at 118,974 vehicles: Automotive News put the figure at 117,959. Last week, with a holiday and some materials shortages interrupting assembly lines, about 83,000 cars and trucks were built in the United States.

This week's assemblies included an increasing number of Buick, Cadillac and Oldsmobile 1949 models. Most details of these new models already have been disclosed, although Oldsmobile will not be formally introduced until Dec. 19.

Still to come are the 1949 Chevrolet and Pontiac models. While there will be previews dealers and industry chroniclers formal public presentation will not be made until Jan. 20 to Jan. 27 when General Motors will make a complete showing of all its new cars at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Buick, Cadillac and Oldsmobile have announced higher prices for their new models. Industry sources quite generally expect higher tags on the 1949 Pontiac and Chevrolet cars.

Both the latter two vehicles are to be entirely new. Styling and engineering details still are being withheld, but there is bound to be some basic body similarity with other models in the General Motors lines.

One thing that may be said is that Chevrolet, only GM car division without an automatic transmission, is not yet ready to announce one for its 1949 models. Nash and Packard may have theirs ready before next summer but most of the other makers will delay introducing them until 1950 models are brought out.

CHRYSLER STILL AHEAD

Chrysler, still ahead of Ford in passenger car production, apparently is striving to hold that position through to the year end. To do this it reportedly is planning to make its new model preparations interfere as little as possible with car assemblies.

While most of Chrysler's new models will not get into production until next month, a lot of retooling must be done in the Chrysler, De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth plants. Rumor has it that Dodge has been scheduled as the first of Chrysler's new model offerings.

So far this year the four Chrysler divisions have built about 742,000 passenger cars and Ford's three units have produced around 670,000. But for the several weeks Ford lost in switching over to new models last spring and the difficulties encountered in regaining production volume Ford undoubtedly would be ahead of Chrysler now.

Unofficial estimates have placed the Ford production loss due to the model change-over at close to 100,000 units.

Press Club Names New Officers

'Skip' Burns Heads Honorary Group

By GENE RODEY

The Press club, an honorary club for staff and reporters of the John Simpson Times, has elected officers. They are "Skip" Burns, president; Danny Sziraki, vice-president; Lynne Hartley, secretary; and Donna Theiding, treasurer.

Miss Nellie McIlvaine, who has been ill, has enjoyed and appreciated all the "get well" and Thanksgiving cards mailed to her by the students in her eighth grade math classes. Her home room, 105, also sent her some new "medicine." Each pupil wrote a note of cheer, rolled it up, put it in a medicine casule, and enclosed it in a regular prescription box.

The Girls' Athletic association will have its annual awards banquet, followed by a dance, on Jan. 21, 1949. Simpson Dance band will play for the party. GAA will sell Christmas cards and stationery as a fund raising project.

Miss Bess Wickert's geography classes visited the library on Friday, Dec. 3.

Additional eighth grade history books have arrived for the use of students.

The seventh grade girls will make molasses cookies next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Miss E. Wilcox's food classes.

The concert band purchased six additional stands for their music.

POLISHING THE APPLE

There was a locker inspection for the boys and girls of John Simpson on Nov. 30, and if they had a clean locker, they got a red apple. Those who got the apples are: Gene Butler, Dan Byers, Cecil Fraley, Viola Au, Darlene Bowie, Nancy Conner, Patty Christoff, Michael Chualoff, Richard Chapman, Jack Cline, Danny Marble, Peggy Bayer, Homer Danals, Pat Blayney, Dorothy Burton, Carence Hargo, Janet Acree, Norma Baker, Ben Carbetta, Judith Abraham, Norma Beal, Marilyn Cramer and Joan Bogner. Each member of the faculty also received a red apple.

Larry Harper, a reporter for Simpson Times and member of the Press club, will fill the newly-created position of News-Journal column news editor. Since John Simpson is a regular weekly contributor to The News-Journal, a need was felt for a student to be responsible for this news coverage.

The Simpson Student Service sponsored a dancing party Friday night. Unique entertainment was furnished by Madam Zodia, star gazer, who told fortunes with a deck of cards. Madam Zodia was impersonated by Miss Hester Robinson. Student performners who sang or played piano solos, were Shirley Massa, Jo Ann Haerle, Winnie Maskie, Nancy Urich, and Elaine Wakely. The guest chaperones were Miss Bertha Ulrey, Mrs. Marlene West, and Hobart Lime. All these performers are members of the Simpson Student Service. Miss Robinson was former SSS adviser.

The volleyball games that were played on Friday in the noon period, were 102 against 105, and th varsity and reserves. The first games were played by the boys and the second by the girls. Room 105 won the boys' game and girls' varsity won over the reserves.

The Simpson Balladeers sang "Gypsy Love Song" at a student assembly at Senior high. Tenors are Donald Bernhardt, Charles Cline, Dave Nash, and Lowell Hess; baritones are Bob Van Voorhis, and Lincoln Atkinson, and the basses are Harrison Cline and Dick Maxwell.

GAA representatives met Thursday after school.

Mrs. Rosalie Stewart is substituting for Wallace Firestone, Simpson's safety patrol adviser, who is away from classes due to illness.

While attending the National Council of English Teachers, in Chicago recently, delegates Miss Elsie McFadden, Miss Louise Lynch, and Mrs. Mabel Ferguson met several of the authors who have written books that are in our own John Simpson library. The authors they saw were Mrs. Marguerite Henry, Mrs. Ingram Judson and Edward Buell Hungerford. Some of the books they have written are "Reaper Man," the story of Cyrus McCormick; "Fighting Frigate," and "Always Ready."

'Juniors' to Give Methodist Service

Central Methodist church will have a turn-about service on the night of Sunday, Dec. 12. Although full details are to be given later, members of the committee in charge reported that church "juniors" are to conduct the entire service.

Principal role of the "seniors" will be to furnish food and a program prior to the church service. "Seniors" have been designated as those over 23 years of age, and "juniors" those under that age.

Rotarians to Hear Story of Patrol

Cpl. John L. Bishop, of the state highway patrol, will be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 11:45 a. m.

He will speak on highway traffic safety and will explain how highway patrolmen are trained and their methods of guarding the highways against reckless or incompetent drivers. William Flynn will be program chairman.

A BIBLE FAMILY—Mrs. William K. Echols reads to her two small children, Thomas and Karen, out of the family Bible, which is read daily by the family.

Advent Significant to Mansfielders

Families Play Major Role In Church

By NITA BRANSON

Walk into the William K. Echols home at 146 West Fourth street, and one of the first things you will see is the family Bible prominently displayed on the living room stand.

The Echols and Mrs. Echols' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhonehouse, with whom their daughter and family live, are "Bible" families.

It is a sustaining, every-day "Word" for them and the basis for the "Jesus Stories" which Mrs. Echols tells her two small children, Thomas and Karen.

That is why tomorrow, Bible Sunday and the second Sunday in Advent, is of particular importance to the Echols and Rhonehouse families. They will listen intently to all that their pastor, Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of the Grace Episcopal church, has to say tomorrow about this special Sunday.

Interest in their daily Bible reading is equaled only by their interest in church work. Mrs. Echols is superintendent of the lower church school; Echols teaches in the intermediate senior class; Mrs. Rhonehouse is directress of the Altar Guild. Her husband is a former member of the Vestry and still active in the Men's club of the church.

4 SPECIAL SUNDAYS

"As you know, we have four special Sundays before Advent, or the Birth of Christ," Rev. Peard explained.

"Last Sunday was the day of repentance or humility in which we got ready to receive the word or the Bible. Tomorrow we accept that word and prepare for the third Sunday, one given over to the duties of ministers in teaching that word. Then, of course, the fourth Sunday is the Sunday before the Christ Child was born in Bethlehem.

There is no definite date for the beginning of Advent. This year it began in November. Sometimes it starts with the first Sunday in December. But each Sunday for four weeks, we prepare ourselves to receive the Child Jesus."

Bible Sunday will be observed in Christian churches throughout the world.

Church Meet Draws to End

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The biennial convention of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ ended yesterday but two of the knottier problems still rest with the organization's executive council.

One is a resolution calling for abolishing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. That one was handed outright to the executive council for disposal later.

The other is a resolution calling upon the United States to form no military alliance with the Franco government in Spain.

Noted Steamer Up for Sale, Owners Say

DETROIT — (AP) — The steamer Put-In-Bay, long a familiar sight on the Detroit river and Lake Erie, will be under new ownership next season.

Directors of the Ashley & Dustin Steamboat line announced the decision, giving mounting operating costs as the determining factor. S. L. Phillips, the line's general manager, said negotiations are under way for other interests to take over the ship.

The Put-In-Bay has been operating since 1911 to Put-In-Bay, Cedar Point and Sandusky, O.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, Dec. 5

Sunday's horoscope encourages most determined and astute efforts to work toward advanced goals of both practical or experimental or creative inspiration, in which, perhaps, ideals, imagination and fancy have significance. Spiritual or cultural values are accented, with promotion or preferment in sight. Yet it might be easy to negative these by enmity jealousy, strife.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a period of outstanding success, with subtle returns or recognition for unusual plans, skills or aspirations of a practical as well as idealistic character. There are strange undercurrents in which the hidden and intriguing should be utilized along practical lines. But an excess of emotions or feelings might precipitate inharmony, wounded feelings, and instill jealousy and envy. Adhere to higher values.

A child born on this day may be blessed with many choice talents and ambitions, assuring it place and distinction. It might also encounter jealousy and envy should it deviate from inherent high purpose.

For Monday, December 6

Monday's astrological forecast presages the sudden advent of an event or chain of events that are destined to prove spectacular and breathtaking. While this visitation may prove revolutionary and devastating, the implications are for unlooked-for honors, distinction, favors or recognition, affecting the emotions and feelings as well as place and circumstances. This might concern some novel accomplishment, a startling discovery or scientific creative effort, with romance and gay adventure spotlighting commonplace experiences.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a startling precipitation of unique, novel and sensational experiences, at once devasting and thrilling. Of radical importance to the life, its pattern and purpose, this abrupt affair may relate to conscious achievement in invention, science, art, drama or other creative urge. The feelings and emotions are also involved, with romance and joyous adventure in the closeup. Try to accept it with equanimity and poise with regard for spiritual undertones, not carried to extremes of behaviorism.

A child born on this day may be especially rich in skills, talents and endowments for a conscious place in the limelight, for its novel or unique expression of creative drives.

Book on Ike Available At Library

Story of Boss Told By ex-WAC

"Eisenhower Was My Boss," by Kay Summersby, is one of 19 new books which will be available at the Mansfield Public library Monday.

This non-fiction selection is a story of World War II and a word picture of General Eisenhower as seen by the young British Wac who served as his driver and secretary. It contains her reactions to her work, her boss, and other celebrities whom she met during the war.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF SOL BLOOM is an interesting piece of American history. Representative Bloom is the son of Polish immigrant parents. After a picturesque career in San Francisco and Chicago as theatrical producer, music publisher, and real estate operator, he entered Congress in 1923. These are amusing, unorthodox reminiscenses containing some shrewd observations on the domestic and international scenes.

THE LITERARY HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES is a three-volume history edited by Robert Spiller, Willard Thorp, Thomas Johnson, and Henry Seidel Canby. The publishers call it a redefinition of American literary culture in the light of present-day values. A group of outstanding scholars planned and designed the work and assigned the chapters. It involved years of conferences and three years of writing. Volume III is a very complete bibliography in individual authors and American literature in general. The set is being added to the John Baxter Black collection.

Other Non-Fiction:

JONATHAN FISHER, by Chase; STANDARD PRIMER FOR HOME BUILDERS AND BUYERS, by Duncan; MEDIEVAL STAINED GLASS by Violet-Le Duc; WATERLINE MODELS by Cranwell; LIVES OF THE LINERS, by Braynard; PASTORAL TRIUMPH, by Kemp; GEORGE ELIOT, by Bullett; MODERN DIESEL, by Allen; IES LIGHTING HANDBOOK; GENERATORS AND MOTORS by Duffin.

BRIGHT LEAF, by Foster Fitz-Simons, is a novel based on the building of a great tobacco fortune in North Carolina. Brant Royle, hating and envying his aristocratic neighbors, grasps the opportunity afforded him by the advent of a Yankee inventor, to build up a huge industry and family fortune.

AFFAIR OF STATE is a new novel by Pat Frank, author of MR. ADAM. This time, Frank's target is our State department. The story is built around Jeff Baker, an ex-army man who joins the Foreign Service and is sent to Budapest in 1949. This is entertaining stuff which gives the reader something to think about.

RIVER TO THE WEST, by John Jennings, is a novel of John Jacob Astor's trading post in the far west. Rory O'Rourke, thrown out of a Scotch-Canadian company, becomes Astor's right hand man in the fur business. This is authentic adventure which will appeal especially to men and boys.

Another historical novel is the SPANGLERS by Henry Castor. This is the story of a family in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, during the Civil War. There are realistic scenes in Andersonville Prison where the hero is confined and good portrayals of life on the home front too.

Other fiction includes THE FOUNDLING, by Heyer, and FACE OF HATE, by DuBois.

Walter White Says:

Congress, America Should Emulate CIO

PORTLAND, Ore—Philip Murray's unrelenting and successful campaign to rout out the minuscule but obstreperous communist minority from the CIO has overshadowed many other important developments during the Tenth Constitutional convention here. This meeting has been a model of intelligent planning on the one hand and of avoidance of any semblace of being a cut-and-dried, boss-ridden procedure on the other. The resolutions submitted were concise, intelligible, informed and realistic. Drafted by the Executive committee with the aid of technical experts from all of the constituent unions, they were submitted to the convention in printed form for study and debate. While naturally expressing labor's demands, each resolution was drafted in the framework of the nation's needs.

Implicit in virtually all of them was the realization that members of the CIO are not only trade unionists but citizens whose best interests are inextricably interwoven with those of all other Americans. This was especially noticeable in the resolution dealing with wage policy. Some conservatives may not agree with the position taken that "It is possible for wages to increase and labor standards to improve within the framework of a reasonable profit structure for American industries." But possible demands for another round of wage increases were unmistakably linked with the question of what is going to be done about increasing prices.

It was made perfectly clear that future wage demands will depend almost entirely on what happens to prices. This puts the issue squarely up to management and government.

One of the most significant actions visible here with respect to communists is not the steps to oust them from the CIO. That is merely the headline aspect. What has been going on long before that step was taken is an example which the American Federation of Labor, the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, congress, college fraternities and the United States as a whole could most profitably follow. Philip Murray, James Carey, Walter Reuther, Jacob Potofsky, Jack Kroll, Emil Rieve and other top CIO leaders long ago realized that Communism or any other dissident philosophy thrives only on injustice and discrimination.

The CIO therefore from its inception banned racial discrimination or segregation in its unions. It did not content itself with passing pious resolutions to be forgotten almost a soon as passed. It went much further by setting up a national committee charged with the day to day task of combatting discrimination wherever found not only within the CIO itself but in American life generally.

Thus the attempts of the communists to capitalize on discrimination have been increasingly unsuccessful. That lack of success was due almost entirely to the fact that the national leadership and membership of the organization made a frontal all-out attack instead of shutting its eyes to the issue. It would be a most helpful thing for America if congress and the American people generally emulated the CIO's example.

Boxcar Betty, Cigar-Smoking Hula-ist, Makes Social Book

NEW YORK — (UP) — The Bowery News has announced the 1948 revision of the "Bowery Social Register."

Kicked out were:

Dan O'Brien, honorary hobo king "for senile delinquency. He's became a bottle baby."

Bozo, the nobo poet, for becoming a pearl diver (dishwasher) in a gandy dancer (railroad worker) camp.

Admitted:

Boxcar Betty, cigar smoking 200 pound former hula-hula dancer, coal miner and snake charmer, for donating five city lots in North Brunswick, N. J., for a hobo's rest home.

Gus Schaefer, king of beggars, for "hitting the road again at 64 and showing daredevil achievement in stemming (panhandling), three Pittsburgh working stiffs (laborers) only 10 feet from a bull (policeman).

Hobo King Ben Benson "who at the age of 65 made a coast to coast trip without any money, despite rising living costs including demands for tips by flophouse attendants, and is now in Pershing Square, Los Angeles, defying all hobo kings to come out and fight."

Ohio's Oleomargarine Forces Prepare for Coming Showdown

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's oleomargarine forces are preparing for a showdown next year—either in the legislature or at the polls.

An initiated bill allowing manufacture and sale of colored oleomargarine in Ohio will go before the 98th General Assembly for decision.

Should the bill be killed there, the association of voters for yellow margarine may take the issue directly to the voters of Ohio.

Yesterday, officials of the association said more than 150,000 valid signatures on petitions proposing the bill have been certified back to Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel by election boards.

Hummel said he will not make an announcement until returns have been received from all petitions.

In order to permit certification of the bill to the legislature next year, only 69,113 valid signatures to the petition are required. The association filed a total of 199,998 signatures Nov. 1.

The bill corresponds to one passed by the Ohio senate last year, only to be killed in the House.

It would provide margarine must be made from domestic—not foreign—oils and if served in a public eating place, must be marked with a capital Roman "M."

If the legislature refuses to pass the bill or amends it so that it is unsatisfactory to the sponsors, the association can force the issue to the ballot in Ohio in 1949 by obtaining 69,113 signatures to petitions.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—and don't be so optimistic as to believe that winter is about over.

It is claimed that science has finally produced a billiard cue that needs no chalking—and thus are hardships being gradually eliminated.

The "Red dean" of Canterbury, now on a speaking tour in this country, says that "Russia is heaven on earth"—although he shows no inclination to hurry to either place.

Reading This May Save You Money

SUPPOSE a total stranger comes to your home as a canvasser for some sort of service of which you may be in need — storm windows, roof repairs, or furnace checkup, for instance. Suppose he tells such a convincing story that you decide to let him, or his firm, do the work.

Then what? Suppose he makes out a contract which he asks you to sign. Do you sign it in an off-hand way without reading it carefully and understandingly — including the fine print?

Remember, you don't know a thing about the reliability or responsibility of this man or the firm he claims to represent . . . you don't even know whether he has a Mansfield location or is a fly-by-night operator from some other city.

So what assurance would you have that you are not being gypped, either in terms of the contract or in the amount you may become obligated to pay?

Several recent instances of crooked transactions by transient operators have been brought to the attention of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce by persons who have been victimized, and it needs be said again and again that dependence can be safely placed only in authorized and properly identified representatives of responsible local concerns which pride themselves on their records of reliability, efficiency and honest dealings.

While Mansfield has no Better Business Bureau, its active Chamber of Commerce offers facilities for checking on questionable operations by unreliable persons or firms, and a phone call to 1368-6 will be welcomed in any case where suspicion is aroused or doubt exists.

Warning at the moment has to do with an out-of-town group promoting a roof-repair racket. Don't be taken in on this gyp game. If your roof needs repairing make sure to consult some dependable local firm that does this kind of work.

No Immediate Cabinet Changes

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S decision to retain his present cabinet will undoubtedly offset part of the uneasiness felt in certain quarters since the election. Agreement of the cabinet officers to remain will contribute to the feeling of stability.

In foreign quarters, too, this will solidify the impression that the United States is firmly on its feet and is not about to do any political nip-ups which might alter its policies.

Politically, Mr. Truman's failure to do any purging or rewarding may appear almost as surprising as his victory at the polls. It indicates, however, his intention to keep things on an even keel and right now that seems highly desirable.

Guard Against Diabetes Early

ANOTHER of the diseases which it is important to discover in an early stage is diabetes, and during the coming week more than ordinary emphasis is to be placed nationally on the availability of tests designed to detect this disease in persons who may not yet realize its presence.

Many may not realize that diabetes classes among the major chronic diseases and it is estimated approximately one million cases are under treatment, with an equal number not diagnosed. It may strike at any age but is most common after 40.

Time was when uninterrupted progress of diabetes was regarded as necessarily fatal, but now the use of insulin, coupled with certain diet restrictions, has produced marvelous results in controlling this distressing disease.

Discussion of this subject with the family physician would be advisable for persons who do not undergo regular medical examinations.

When Bus Passes Ahead of Schedule

WITH more and more Mansfield residents depending on bus service, in preference to driving an auto into the congested downtown area, a point made by a woman patron of bus transportation seems worthy of consideration by the management, which has expressed desire to cater efficiently to its patrons.

As explained by the complainant, the situation is this: It appears that buses have a regular scheduled time at which to reach various intersecting streets on their routes, but that there are some instances in which they pass an intersection a minute or more before schedule, with the driver failing to note a prospective passenger hurrying toward the customary stopping place.

This is probably unintentional, but the fact that it does occur indicates need for correction — possibly by requirement for a slight wait, rather than passing an intersection ahead of schedule. Patrons have become accustomed to waiting patiently for a bus that is behind schedule, but should not be inconvenienced by missing one that passes their corner ahead of time.

Noting a price increase of 3.2 per cent in one make of cars, the Kansas City Star recalls that brewers have always contended that percentage isn't enough to notice.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

World-Wide Food Planning Impractical

IN HIS first public speech after the election, President Truman honored the Food and Agriculture Organization. He uttered some pre-Thanksgiving pleasantries which were well received by a considerable number of foreign experts and near-experts who came to discuss the interesting subject of food.

Perhaps a stray taxpayer or two, reading of this in his newspaper, asked himself the question, "Just what is this F. A. O. and what is it good for?

The F. A. O. is theoretically a part of the United Nations. It was founded three years ago to bring about international cooperation in the agriculture and food field.

It has been described as a sort of institute for world-wide planning. Although the F. A. O. had its parentage in the U. N., it largely has operated as an independent agency, even to the extent of selecting new members and observers.

With its high-sounding title and pretentions, its figures and predictions have had a totally undue influence in Washington. And on the record it has not been particularly happy in its predictions. In May, 1946, it predicted a great shortage of food—a need for 30 million metric tons of grain, with only 18 or 20 million tons available. Ultimately, it was found that there was a 27 million-ton balance of supply and demand for world export.

* * *

Error Admitted.

IN THE early autumn of 1947, the F. A. O.—from then on reinforced by the International Emergency Food Council — predicted that 30 million tons would be needed, with only 27 or 28 million tons available in the world.

This prediction of a huge shortage had a terrific inflationary influence on prices and was partly responsible for the famous speculative spree a year ago.

This column, on reliable information, registered doubt about those figures in early November of that year. By spring of this year the error was belatedly admitted, but after so many people and agencies knew the error that the yeast had gone out of the market.

The tendency of the F. A. O. has been to exaggerate requirements for food in not basing them on the eating habits of European countries, let alone those of the yellow and brown peoples of the world.

Nutritionists like Sir John Boyd Orr, former F. A. O. chairman, were responsible for a great scare about undernourishment for the next 25 years, at a time when menacing surpluses could be foreseen in the near future.

The hope that the F. A. O. could induce the cooperation of the nations in food production and consumption has been shattered. Each nation has adopted its own policies, suited to its own internal conditions. Bilateral trade agreements have become the rule, and free trade or multilateral agreements the exception.

Agricultural and food statistics should issue from our own department of agriculture, as before the war. As far as international figures are concerned, the International Agricultural Institute in Rome did a good job before the war, with vastly less money and fewer employes than the F. A. O. Technical help to underdeveloped countries can be provided without an F. A. O.

This overlapping in food matters, as well as in other fields, should be noted by the Hoover Commission. And the F. A. O. should be moved back into the U. N., where it originated and where it belongs.

Thomas Carlyle, British essayist, historian and philosopher, was born on December 4, 1795. The following is a sentence from his well-remembered writings: "Freedom is the one purport, wisely aimed at, or unwisely, of all man's strugglings, toilings and sufferings on this earth."

Viewing the National Scene

Desperate People Rebel

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—If it weren't such a stark tragedy to hundreds of millions of people involved, it would be possible to look with calm cynicism on all the strange things going on today about China, the propaganda and propaganda devices, the lather whipped up on what are known as "ideological" grounds.

It's for the very simple reason that too little has been done for the Chinese people that the communists, so-called, are pressing so hard on the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek, that Madame Chiang flew here to knock on doors that don't seem to open so easily now as they once did. People are suddenly out of town on important business, or are just not "in" to China's charming first lady.

During the war she lived as a guest at the White House. Now it's different.

There's been a change of attitude toward China, with some who were once very favorably inclined not so warm now, and with others who once were cool now almost rabid in her behalf, and it's an interesting psychological story, typical of our strange times.

China was once a special New Deal project. Well before the second World war, the motive was a humanitarian impulse to help a struggling sister "republic" by backing the Nationalist government which professed certain reform objectives to improve conditions among the people and extend democracy.

When the Japanese began their war on China a wave of sympathy swept through this country. When we got into the second World war and China became an ally, we did everything possible to support her, for China was not only an important part of the world battlefields, but by keeping her in the war we served the strategical purpose of diverting Japanese troops that otherwise would be turned upon us in the Pacific where, at the start, we were very weak.

It was then a coldly practical matter to save our skins. Men and money, the latter in huge quantities, went to China with few questions asked.

But New Dealism as represented in the Roosevelt administration and re-instilled in spirit again by the recent election, now is cool. There has been a slow disillusionment through revelations that money and supplies sent so freely to China were diverted to bolsted up a shaky and, to some degree, a corrupt regime, and the promised reforms had not been achieved.

In short, nothing still was done for the people and it was, basically, the extension of democracy in that way that aroused what for want of a better name, are called "liberals" or "progressives."

* * *

Thrives On Misery.

THERE'S no easy answer to China, if any. Those who know it well say the only way to back up Chiang successfully is to send an American army there, and no one can imagine the Aemrican people standing for that.

It is impossible to carry on a huge financial operation such as some of the hotheads are advocating, because it would be too great a strain on our economy, with what we are doing in other areas where we have decided to concentrate.

The ultimate solution is likely to be moderate financial help and continued insistence upon reforms to improve the morale of the people and reforms in the army.

The Nationalist army is reported low in morale, while the communists are full of spirit. The latter condition was attributed by one official who had a good deal to do with the Chinese operation on the spot to the fact that the communists seem to know what they are fighting for and the Nationalist army and its supporters do not.

While it doesn't do much good to point it out at this late date, except that it might be a guide elsewhere in the world, China is the horrible example today of how communism thrives on a desperate and despairing people, and improvement of the lot of the people is the only way to meet that challenge.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Tax and Labor Policies Being Shaped

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN and his cabinet advisers began to shape the domestic policies of his new administration.

Under Maurice Tobin, secretary of labor, a team of industrial relations experts has prepared a report for Mr. Truman on what labor measures should go into his "State of the Union" message to the new Congress in January.

They have recommended that Mr. Truman appeal to the new Democratic-controlled House and Senate to junk the Taft-Hartley Law and substitute a compromise which would merge some features of the 1947 law and the Wagner Act of 1935.

They also suggest that the President offer a specific compromise bill to Congress to accompany the Taft-Hartley repeal measure.

Check on Corporations.

Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo., who is to become chairman of the strategic Senate-House economic committee, served notice on a "few giant corporations" that he aims to put double check-reins on their profits—higher taxes and federal price and ration curbs.

"I don't want to re-enact OPA," Sen. O'Mahoney said, "but I do want to control the present regimentation of prices and rationing of products by concentrated private interests."

Corporations manufacturing basic commodities such as steel are in a position to fix their own prices and distribution, he said. In this way, he said, many items needed by the average family are subject to a corporate rationing system.

"As long as shortages exist in basic commodities," he said, "we should have government allocation."

To Assume Taft's Post.

Sen. O'Mahoney's new post will be that same strategic one from which retiring chairman Taft (R-Ohio) directed the GOP fight in the 80th Congress against Mr. Truman's request for anti-inflation powers.

The Wyoming senator, who has steadily backed Mr. Truman's plea for an excess profits tax on corporations, said he will introduce such a bill after the Democrats take over Congress on Jan. 3. He said he plans to propose a levy about one-half of the wartime rate.

But Rep. Robert Doughton (D-NC), who will be chairman of the House Ways and Means committee which initiates tax legislation, said he foresaw no precipitous action on taxes. He said it was idle to talk about specific tax plans until Congress had examined the President's budget and revenue estimates for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

It takes longer to write a good tax bill than most people think, he said.

O'Mahoney said he expects business, industry, employment and profits to stay at present high levels provided the purchasing power of millions in the lower income groups is not cut off.

To "protect the low income buyer," he proposes imposition of a 60 to 90-day cooling off period before prices of basic commodities can be raised.

At Home

Rain-Making Not Easy.

Two years ago a General Electric company scientist dropped some dry ice on a cloud and made it rain.

Immediately, enthusiasts believed man had the power to make it rain at will. They envisioned the desert transformed into fertile farms, hurricanes dissipated harmlessly at sea and fogbound ports cleared for plane and ship traffic. Military strategists saw in it a weapon to bog down enemy transport in a sea of mud.

Last March, the Air Force started a research project on artificial rainmaking. One squadron of All-Weather planes went hunting hurricanes in the Caribbean. Other experiments were conducted with Weather Bureau experts in the midwest.

Now the Air Force has abandoned its project. It said: "Experiments proved the seeding of clouds has not caused rain in amounts sufficient to be of economic significance."

* * *

World Food Supply.

Revised estimates have placed this year's world wheat crop at 6,285,000,000 bushels—400,000,000 more than 1947.

This year's total is about 35,000,000 bushels more than was estimated in September. The increase came largely from Europe where supplies have been short.

World wheat output averaged 7,010,000,000 for the 1935-39 period.

* * *

Mining for Oil.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines reports that instead of drilling wells, oil men can mine petroleum in San Luis Obispo County, Calif., by open-cut mining methods.

The oil is in bitumen in sandstone and can be separated by treatment with alkaline hot water yielding 26 gallons of oil a ton, in addition to asphalt and coke.

The deposit studied contains a quarter of a billion tons of the bituminous sandstone,

John Foster Dulles: "Any nation that launched an attack would find itself opposed by most of the world."

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire: "The situation in China has become so desperate that a positive and effective American aid program is urgently needed to prevent the Communists from taking over the whole of China."

Abroad

China's Struggle.

The fortunes of Nationalist China hang on the outcome of two battles on opposite sides of the globe—one in Nanking, the other in Washington.

The critical campaign for central China shifted to the very approaches of Nanking, itself, as the Suchow garrison belately swung south for a battle to save the capital from Chinese communists.

Equally dramatic was the flight to Washington by Madame Chiang, wife of the generalissimo. She came to plead for all-out American arms and aid to back the fight against the communists.

Madame Chiang faces heavy odds in Washington. As the wife of China's president, she is being accorded every courtesy. But it is apparent that official Washington looks with coolness upon her mission.

* * *

Russian Puzzle.

The enigma of Russian diplomacy has become evident again in the Berlin crisis. At Paris, Moscow agreed to another mediation plan on the east-west dispute. In Berlin, however, it set up a communist government for the whole four-power occupation capital. To wary western observers, it appeared Moscow was trying one thing with one hand, quite the opposite with the other.

The new mediation plan was devised by Juan Bramuglia, Argentine foreign minister and retiring president of the United Nations Security Council.

It calls for a neutral commission of experts to handle the technical and procedural phases of the east-west conflict over currency and the Soviet land blockade of Berlin. It apparently is a plan designed to save face for all.

Tito's New Line.

What's behind the current wave of self-criticism of Yugoslavia's top political leaders?

Foreign observers believe it does not mean any bow to the Cominform, which recently attacked Premier Marshal Tito and his aides for deviating from the party line.

It should be recalled, however, that one of the Cominform charges was that Tito's leadership did not adhere strongly enough to the Marx-Lenin policy of self-criticism, that it did not admit its shortcomings.

Farmer's Diary

Whimsey For Children

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SEEMED to be awakened early the other morning by two voices at the edge of the bed clothes on my bed. One was a plaintive voice, the other gruff.

Said the Gruff One, "By yourself you don't amount to much, do you? You can't thread a needle, or button a button, or even write your name. You wouldn't get along well at all, without me!"

Answered the Plaintive One: "I know, I know. You were stronger than I right from the start. You've had more training. Early in life you learned to draw pictures and then to write. All I've ever done is just hold the paper for you."

"You never have tried to do things by yourself," accused the Gruff One grimly. "You just go along, as a matter of course, holding the hat while I hang up the coat, pulling the wrinkles out of the hide when I'm razoring, holding the book while I turn the pages. It must get monotonous."

"I wouldn't say that," returned the other. "We can't both go first! That'd be as bad as both going second. And you know, yourself what folks would say about HIM if we didn't work together! After all HE'S the one who makes plans for us both, and depends upon us to help him. If either of us is hurt, he'll be hurt, too."

"I can play better tunes than you."

"I can chord better chords."

"I can make the treble notes ring!"

"But I boom, in the bass!"

It seemed to me I could hear the Gruff One thinking. "Yep," he said. "We look lots alike, but we're made different on purpose. He needs us both, each in his own place, doing what each can do best. If either of us failed HIM it would be pretty awful."

"You mean like when He wants to catch a ball?"

"Yes or rub between his toes; or climb a tree; or sail a boat, or steer a Ship of State. . . .

"We must work together", . . . they chanted, "We must work together . . . we will work . . . we will . . ."

With a start I became broad awake. In two minutes the alarm clock would go off. In the morning light my TWO HANDS were upright at the edge of the covers. Both were cold.

I grinned as I pulled them in and set them to warming each other.

Speaking of Your Health

When Jaw Joint Clicks

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A GREAT many people occasionally notice a clicking in the jaw joint and sometimes feel as if it were going to lock during a yawn.

Ordinarily, this is not a serious condition, but in some instances it becomes so severe that the mouth cannot be opened wide enough for normal eating.

In other patients, the jaw may lock when the mouth is opened, while for still others the audible clicking of the jaw at every movement is the most annoying feature of the trouble.

Whether mild and occasional or constant and severe, the cause of this disorder is always the same—a derangement of the cartilage disc between the bone surfaces which form the joint between the upper and lower jaws. Usually, this consists of loosening or enlargement of the disc.

Slight Injury.

Some slight injury to the joint, such as might be inflicted by too wide a yawn, may precede the development of the condition. A blow on the joint may have the same result, but most cases can be traced either to the extraction of teeth or a natural malocclusion or improper bite. This causes long-continued strain which gradually brings about changes in the cartilage.

In treating this disorder, if the bite is not proper, it should be corrected. If an injury has occurred recently, splinting of the joint for a time may allow the condition to clear up without becoming chronic or long-continued.

In those cases in which pain is present, the use of heat, such as heat produced by using a short-wave diathermy machine, may bring marked benefit.

None of these treatments will correct the condition if the cartilage is either too large or too loose. In such cases, an operation is necessary. During the operation, the cartilage is removed.

In those cases in which the only symptom is clicking in the joint, operation is, as a rule, not needed.

Foolish Protest Stunts.

A 23-year-old University of Minnesota student has been sentenced to eight months in a federal penal institution for failure to register for the draft. He is paying a high price for a bit of needless exhibitionism. The young man had served 30 months as a combat infantryman. As a war veteran, he would never have been drafted.

Overdramatized protest against the draft by a man whom it did not directly affect was about as ridiculous a performance as that of the young American, completing military service, who renounced his citizenship while in Paris to become a "citizen of the world" by installing himself, bed roll and all, on territory being used by the United Nations for a general assembly session. — St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Indian on the Nickel Losing Face Even Faster Than Chiang Kai-Shek

NEW YORK—(AP)—The vanishing American today is the Indian on the old-fashioned nickel.

He is losing face faster than Chiang Kai-shek. No wonder he is looking west toward the sunset. He has had his day. He and the buffalo are going down together.

For the nickel is about as useful to the average man now as a golf ball is to a hen. Time was when the nickel delighted the childish heart. Give one to a kid today, and the little innocent is likely to inquire:

"What's it for?"

And it is a hard question to answer. The nickel, like the old grey mare, ain't what she used to be.

The coin originally was strictly an inflation product. Now it's a victim of inflation.

It was first minted in 1866 in the high price times following the Civil war. Before that the people had made small change with half cents, large cents, pennies, bronze two cents, nickel three cents, and silver three-cent and half-dime pieces.

The new five-cent nickel, which was actually only 25 per cent nickel and 75 per cent copper, quickly rivaled even the Indian head penny in popularity. It quickly drove the two-cent, three-cent and half-dime coins out of circulation.

It had a mighty reign. For two generations of Americans it was a basic coin, although by statute it was legal tender only in the payment of debts of twenty-five cents or less.

It helped build fortunes for the Woolworths, the Dukes and many another clan.

What couldn't a man do with a nickel in the good old days? He could buy his wife a pair of earmuffs or a hair ribbon. He could belly up to a bar and get a stiff shot of stomach warmer or a tall glass of beer. It would finance him to a plug of chawing terbaccy, a small pack of coffin nails, or two of the darkest, strongest cigars this side of Cuba.

It would take him to the movies in the era of the silent flickers, when strong men fainted at the sight of pretty Pearl White, tied by villainy to the railroad tracks in the path of the speeding express train, 15 minutes out of Hoboken.

Yes, sir-r-r-ree. For a nickel a Sunday swell could thrill his best girl by knocking over five ducks in a row at the shooting gallery. A boy could buy a hot dog, a heaping sack of popcorn, a whopping halfint ice cream cone, or enough licorice to bring out the family castor oil brigade.

They though so much of this dear old coin that the worst thing you could say of a man was, "He ain't worth a lugged nickel."

And today? It won't even buy the foam on a glass of beer. The only cigar it'll fetch is a skinny thing that looks like a cigaret with jaundice and evaporates in three strong puffs. It won't let you in to see a newsreel, let alone a double feature.

In many cities you have to team it up with some pennies to ride a bus or buy a newspaper, a pack of gum, or a bottle of soft drink, junior size. And the glass bottle is so thick the soda ap looks like the fluid in a thermometer.

No longer will a kind note from the boss and a nickel get you a ride in the subway. It takes two nickels now.

Jackson's picture on the $20 6The Democrats used to holler because the republicans put Andrew Jackson's picture on the $20 bill. They complained they were so poor they nover got to see this picture of their hero. Now the democrats are wondering if they haven't slighted the memory of Thomas Jefferson by putting his profile on a nickel.

The blamed thing is plumb bent would take the trouble of plugging a nickel.

$50,000 Yule Bonus Approved

Tappan Workers To Benefit

The Tappan Stove company will distribute $50,000 in cash Christmas bonuses to its 850 employes, it was announced today by the company s board of directors.

All employes who have been with the company for one year or longer will receive equal shares of the annual bonus. Those who have worked for less than one year will receive amounts based on the number of months they have been employed by the company.

No definite date has been set by company officials for distribution of the bonus, but it probably will be just before Christmas, they said.

The directors also voted a dividend of $2 per share, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders on record as of Dec. 8. This will make a total payment for the year of $2.75, compared with $1.87½ paid last year.

FUND BOOSTED

It was also announced by the directors that an advance deposit of $500,000 has been made to the profit-sharing and retirement fund of company employes.

The half-million-dollar contribution is the amount employes have received so far this year. It is expected that this amount will be increased after the final profits of the company have been determined by audit. Officials said the total contribution to the fund by the company is based on profits, before government taxes are paid.

Since the profit-sharing plan was put into effect five years ago, Tappan employes have had $1,220,000 credited to their accounts.

The profit-sharing and retirement funds are paid to workers in a lump sum or on a monthly basis at retirement. Men are eligible to retire at 60 and women at 55.

Accused Of Taking Dresses

Pair Found In Kobacker's

Two girls who went on a shop-lifting spree in seven Mansfield retail establishments were sentenced to 30 days in the county jail today in municipal court by Acting Judge James V. Will.

The defendants, Miss Elsie Mae Hutchinson, 19, and Mrs. Margaret A. Hoskinson, 24, whom detectives said roomed together in a south-side rooming house, were specifically charged with stealing two dresses valued at $12.25 from the Holly Shop, 68 North Main street, on Dec. 1.

The girls were found about 7 p. m. Dec. 1 in Kobacker's department store. Detective F. Bruce Friday told the court that the two had hid in the store before closing time, waited for the store to close and then started to collect merchandise they wanted.

FOUND BY WORKER

They were surprised by an employe who went back to the store after hours. Miss Hutchinson and Mrs. Hoskinson had piled $457 worth of goods on the floor, Friday said.

Taken to the police station for questioning, they admitted a series of thefts over the past three weeks, most of which occurred on Dec. 1, police said.

Inaddition to the Holly shop thefts, police said the pair stole a dress, two slips and a pair of panties from the H. L. Reed company; a dress and a pair of shoes from the J. C. Penney company; a blouse from the W. T. Grant company; a blouse from Neisner Brothers; and a doll from the Montgomery Ward and company store.

Vote Count Completed

Local 711 Keeps Hawkins As President

The official count of votes cast for officers of Local 711, United Electrical Workers (Westinghouse) today showed Joseph Hawkins, re-elected president by a majority of nearly three to one.

Hawkins termed his election "a defeat for the left-wing element of the union.

"Without mentioning names, most of the defeated candidates were backed by the group in our union that supported Henry Wallace for president and fought the recently-passed constitutional amendment to ban communists from holding office in the union." Hawkins said.

Hawkins said he was quite pleased with the turnout of voters at the polls which closed Thursday night.

"Forty-five per cent of the eligible voters in the union voted," Hawkins said, "and that compares favoraby with the turnout in the recent national election."

The official vote for 1949-50 officers follows:

For president—Hawkins, 1,506, Robert Heath, 558; for vice presidents (2), James Young, 1,431, Robert Sonner, 966, W. F. McCartney, 557, Charles Bradley, 574; for recording secretary, Thomas Campbell, 987, Walter McElroy, 954; for financial secretary, Thomas Flood, 1,497, Paul Hammer, 514.

Jury Clears City In Damage Suit

A common pleas court jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the City of Mansfield after hearing evidence in a suit for $500 filed by Marvin Stevens, 311 Miller street, on behalf of his stepson, Joe Davis.

Attorneys for the plaintiff contended Davis was refused admission to the Liberty park swimming pool June 24, 1944, because he was colored.

The city based its defense on the contention Davis was barred from the pool because its facilities were fully taxed at the time the incident occurred.

A state law declares that any person or agency which denies admission to "places of public accommodation" to anyone solely because of his race or color is liable for damages of not more than $500 nor less than $50.

The jury of seven men and five women, after one hour of deliberation, returned a unanimous decision in favor of the city. A vote of nine of the 12 jurors would have been sufficient to reach a verdict.

The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys E. L. Watson and M. C. Hoff, of Cleveland, and the city by Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch. The case was heard by Judge Leland Rutherford of Morrow county in the absence of Richland county Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Park Area Aid Sought

Garden clubs of the city will be asked to aid in beautifying the park area at the South and Maple lake, members of the association of the two parks have decided.

It was one of the important matters that came up for discussion at the monthly meeting of the South and Maple Lake Parks association. It also was decided to grant the request of the Cub Scout troops for use of the Hut at the parks for a meeting place.

In connection with the proposed plans to beautify the park area, Harvey Fitzsimmons asks that any garden club interested in the project contact him at 6977-1.

During the program hour, Dr. Harry Wain, city and county health commissioner spoke on "The Highways of Disease", explaining the way in which a good health commissioner erects barriers to stop the progress of disease germs.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday Jan. 5.

Seek New Wheat Pact

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A new attempt to negotiate an international wheat agreement will be made here next January 25.

The state department announced this last night following a meeting of an 11-nation preparatory committee. All countries belonging to the United Nations Food and Agricultural organization are expected to participate.

The proposed pact would replace the agreement negotiated early this year which did not become effective because of the failure of the United States Congress to act on it.

That agreement, which had the backing of President Truman, would have covered a five-year period. It would have set up a system of maximum and minimum prices to protect growers and consumers, and would have divided the world wheat market among most of the major exporting nations.

Right Or Wrong, Russian Officer Was Going to Discuss HIS Angle

AT THE YALTA negotiations with Stalin, FDR promised him U. S. engineers would repair the Dneiper Dam, which the nazis blew up. He told Stalin TVA chief D. Lilienthal would send a man over to discuss it "in August, 1946."

In the 2d week of that August a big Russky bounced into Lilienthal's office and boomed: "Plans—where are the plans? You're a week behind!"

Lilienthal replied: "I'm behind? You're behind! For nine months I've been trying to get visas for my engineers to get into the Soviet to get some plans ready!"

To which the Russian drew himself up and said: "I have no authority to discuss MY behind—only YOUR behind!"

"That's the height of frustration," added Fred. "A parrot living with Talu. It must feel like a kleptomaniac in a piano store!"

Portrait of an American: He is more mature in '48 than he appeared in '41. He looks as though he had been through a hard fight and hopes he'll never have to go through one again.

There are more lines in his face. Some are of sorrow—like a man who has lost some sons in battle. His lips are a little tighter—as though he had been badly disappointed—but was still determined.

His eyes are brighter and quicker, but far less smiling. Like a fellow who just doesn't believe everything he's told anymore. He's a little grayer, too. And a lot less gaudy. Like a man who smiles at the loud shirts he used to wear because he can t forget the battle-jacket he wore only 3 years ago.

He seems to ruefully understand that it is expensive to be an American, but he'd sooner dig deeper into his pockets than have his boy digging another foxhole. His face has more character than in '41 and his spirit seems stronger.

Because deep in his eyes you can see his Hope for his Children, his Faith in his Country, and a man's deep love and respect for Mrs. America.

A German was looking at the sea from the docks of the Rostock Harbor. The Russian harbor commandant asked what he was doing.

"I am waiting for the Russian ships which are supposed to bring us grain from the Soviet Union."

"Ah," was the reply (as he put a friendly arm about the man), "you not look here. You look in the newspaper!"

Canton Solicitor Leery of Washington's 'Slicksters'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An Ohio city solicitor was wary of Washington's "slick lawyers" and that's why the "testimony" about gas needs was mimeographed.

It came out in the Federal Power commission hearing on a request of the Texas Gas Transmission corporation to build a 350,000,000-cubic-foot pipeline from Texas to Middletown, O.

The city solicitor (he handles a city's legal business) was Thomas H. Nichols of Canton. He admitted suggesting that the East Ohio Gas company draw up background information for his appearance before the commission to press his city's gas needs.

He said he didn't know how things went before the commission and wanted the material handy when he started talking "in front of a lot of slick lawyers."

The material, it developed, was in a mimeographed memorandum suggesting "proposed testimony" for Ohio city officials appearing here. It was complete with "sample" questions and answers to be "studied with the view of adapting it to the particular situation confronting your community."

Kenneth Wagner, commission attorney who produced the document, said he did not want "to cast any reflection whatsoever" on the city witnesses but merely to show "the existence of such a document."

Then he said it was "the last link in the story of why the appearances are being made."

Police Probing Latest Racket

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Columbus police today continued their investigation of what they termed a racket patterned after ambulance-chasing. Safety Director C. C. Cole said certain garage operators are using shortwave police radios to learn of automobile crashes and then speed to the scene to tow away crippled cars. Automobile owners, Cole said, were being charged as much as $15 for towing.

A jury convicted Paul Sanderson, 37, of Broadway, Union county, of second degree murder in the ax killing of a fellow stablehand, Joseph Couch, 62, of Newark, O.

Youngstown Man Gets Admiralcy

—WASHINGTON,—(UP)— Capt. Calvin M. Bolster, who is soon to become a rear admiral, is a pioneer in rocket and jet propulsion.

Bolster is one of the 24 captains approved for promotion as rear admirals by President Truman. He is one of the four engineering officers on the list.

The 51-year-old deputy and assistant chief of navel research said today he expects to receive the promotion around July 1 when there will be some vacancies among flag officers.

During the war, Bolster initiated and directed the jet-assisted-take-off program.

He had long envisioned the combat potentialities of rocket and jet propulsion when tactical applications were considered remote by most people, the navy says of him.

He received the legion of merit for his outstanding wartime services in the design of equipment for both planes and carriers for air operations.

In this work he dealt with various schemes for accelerating airplanes through rocket and jet propulsion.

As he explained it, "In 1940 a lot of people thought we were playing around with Rube Goldberg stuff." But with the development of Jato in 1944, he said, "We proved we had something."

Bolster was born at Ravenna, O., Aug. 17, 1897. He graduated from the Naval Academy in 1920

Madison Opens Season With 45-38 Overtime Victory

Tyger Cagers Smash Elyria for Initial Victory

Al Dark Rookie Leader

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK — (AP) — Alvin Dark, Boston Braves' talented young shortstop, today was named rookie of the year for 1948 by the Baseball Writers association.

The 25-year-old freshman who hit .324 for the pennant-winning Braves won by a comfortable margin. Dark received 27 of the 48 votes by the same writers' committees who selected the most valuable player in each major league.

Gene Bearden, southpaw pitching star of Cleveland's world series triumph, was second. He polled eight votes However, all balloting was done during the last week of the season and thus did not take into consideration world series performances. In the regular season he won 17 and lost seven.

BRIGHTEST AT END

Bearden, of course, flashed brightest at the very end of the year. After defeating the Boston Red Sox in the tie playoff game to decide the pennant, he shut out the Braves in the third series game. Then he came back in a relief role to save the day for Bob Lemon in the sixth game when the Tribe won the series.

Third honors went to Richie Ashburn, the Philadelphia Phils' tow-headed speedster. He had seven votes. Ashburn, a "sleeper" in the rookie crop was on the Toronto roster until a few days before the season opened. He jostled Harry Walker, the 1947 National league batting champ, out of a job and hit .330, second only to Stan Musial, the champ.

Ashburn broke a bone in his hand in August and missed the last two months of the season. If it hadn't been for that he might have been even more outstanding However, he was one of the real "finds" of the year, jumping from Class A to the majors without trouble.

Miami Beach Boys Aid Vanderbilt 11 Beat Miami, 33-6

MIAMI, Fla., — (UP) — Dean Davidson and Herb Rich of Miami Beach were home from school today, visiting the old neighborhood haunts, but the state of Florida would just as soon see them get back to Tennessee and stay there.

The Duo was anything but pleasant to the home town folks last night as they wacked huge swaths through the Miami University football team to give Vanderbilt a whopping 33 to 6 victory in the last game of the regular season.

The Orange Bowl was the scene of the massacre and it was Davidson and Rich who did the deed. Davidson scored two touchdowns before 28,952 and threw up a 31-yard pass that set up another Vanderbilt score. Rich had almost as good a time, getting vandy off to a fast start with a touchdown less than two minutes after the opening kickoff.

Two Teams Tie In Shelby Loop

SHELBY — The Shelby Merchants and Gumps moved into a two-way tie for first place as the Merchants defeated the Legion 40 to 19 and Gumps trimmed the Ohio Seamless Tube 39 to 18.

The Salesbook eked out a 35 to 31 victory over a much improved Bings team D Tooker Merchants had 16 points

However there will be a new league leader tonight as the Merchants meet Gumps in the curtain raiser at 7 00

Other games scheduled for the three game bill are Salesbook vs. OST at 8 p m and Bings vs. the Legion at 9

Rams Follow Tradition Of Upsets

By CHARLEY STINE

Following a tradition set up by last year's district champions, the Madison Ram basketball team opened its season with a 45-38 upset victory over Shelby last night in the Madison gym.

Just as last year's team was perennial underdogs, the current Rams were not supposed to win last night. But according to the pattern of their predecessors they used a smooth passing attack and fine sharpshooting to subdue their alleged superiors.

The game was tied at 38-38 at the end of the regulation distance but in the overtime, Madison refused to get rattled and went on to win going away. Buckets by Jim Brightbill, and Joe Distl and a basket and foul by Dutch Bader put the game on ice

BRIGHTBILL GETS 15

Brightbill set the scoring pace all the way to rack up 15 points, and was a bull on rebounds. Bader and Ed Chelski also turned in some fine work and tallied ten points each.

Shelby, which had won its only previous start, was as good as expected but the Rams were better. They scored first on Jim Brightbill's long one-hander, had the game tied, then jumped into a 7-2 lead. Shelby deadlocked the count at 7-all as the first quarter ended.

The Whippets held their only lead in the second quarter, 15-14. The count had been tied a 9-9 and 11-11, before a free throw by Gene Riblet and a Chelski one-hander put the Rams in the van, 14-11. Two free throws by Dick Utz and a bucket by Stan Cronenwett then gave the Whippets their lead. However, Bader converted a foul, and Chelski sank two straight longs to give the host team a 19-15 half-time advantage.

BUILD UP LEAD

With Bader connecting for three buckets, the Rams built the advantage to 34-29 at the end of the third period, then stalled momentarily. Clancy Fackler made good on a field goal and free throw and Dennis looped in a two pointer to tie the score. Chelski again cut loose from way back but Utz hit from up close to bring the count to 36-36 at the automatic time out.

For two minutes the battle went on without a score before Brightbill batted in a rebound with less than a minute to go. Clark, however, broke loose for Shelby within the last five seconds to send the game into overtime.

From there on it was all Madison. Brightbill again came through with the tie-breaking basket and Dutch Bader broke loose to ice the game Shelby's last minute desperation wild play led to still another Ram counter before time ran out.

Shelby won the reserve game by a 32-16 score. The entire Madison quintet was playing its first organized basketball game.

Anderson Gets 16 In 49-30 Triumph

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor

ELYRIA—Mansfield Senior high's new 1948-49 model basketball machine made an interesting seasonal debut here last night against a tall but inexperienced Elyria quintet. The speedy Tygers romped to a 49-to-30 victory.

With only two lettermen available off last year's club, Coach Vern Hoffman relied on a flock of junior talent which came through in a breezy fashion. Hoffman used 13 players, including two seniors, 10 juniors and a sophomore. However, only seven of the group scored.

Before the contest Hoffman was perturbed a bit about who would take up the scoring slack left by the graduation of All-Ohio Nick Gagich, the greatest point producer in Tyger cage history., But the new cast came through as a basket-making unit with the edge going to slender Jimmy Anderson, a junior forward. The one-handed expert counted eight field goals.

Lettermen Paul Ferguson and Norb Shibinski made nine and eight points respectively while Junior Willie Fowler matched the latter figure

GAME LOOKED CLOSE

For awhile last night it looked like a close game. Both clubs seemed to be feeling their way but Elyria soon gave evidence it had little but height. Center Al Struck, a 6-3 specimen, was the only consistent scorer with 10 markers.

Fowler opened the scoring by caging a bucket on a fast break but Don Hawke dropped in a long shot to knot the count. Then Ferguson took over to score five straight points and the Bengals were never headed. Tony Curcillo connected from the charity line and Hawke hit a one-hander to slice the lead to 7-6

That ended things as far as Elyria was concerned. The Tygers rushed the home club off the court the remainder of the way. Shibinski hit twice and Anderson once to give Mansfield a 13-to-6 lead at the quarter.

JIM TAKES CHARGE

Anderson took charge of things in the second heat, notching four baskets. He hit two one-handers, broke around a defender for an easy layup and got the fourth on a fast break. Three of Jimmy's baskets came in succession.

The Tygers led at the other intermission points, 27 to 11, and 37 to 20.

Mansfield had only five opportunities from the free throw line, making one of them. The Tygers committed 15 rules infractions with A. C. Jenkins fouling out late in the fourth period. Elyria make eight of 18 free tosses.

Hoffman's lads connected on 23 of 56 chances from the court. The first half mark was 13 of 26.

Coach Fred Staub's sophomores defeated the Elyria reserves, 44 to 33, after leading by quarters 8 to 2, 16 to 13 and 28 to 21. Gene Fidler had 13 and Billy Reale 10 for the Tyger cubs.

Jake LaMotta Gets Boos for Beating 'Tom'

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, — (UP) —Both Jake La Motta and Tommy Yarosz appeared lacking in condition last night when Bronx Jake won an unpopular 10-round decision over the tall mauler from Monaca, Pa., before 9,814 at Madison Square Garden.

Nevertheless the result of their goofy brawl benefitted both.

La Motta half-heartedly re-established himself as a middleweight contender and assured himself of a bout with Robert Villemain of France at the garden, Jan. 7.

CROWD DISAGREES

Because the disappointing (to the promoters) and disappointed crowd thought Yarosz had won the fight, managing director Harry Markson of the 20th Century club said today:

"Yarosz made an excellent showing. We will use him again in the garden as soon as possible. He did well in his first garden main event."

The decision was unanimous, but the crowd booed it lustily.

La Motta, plodding persistently forward, forced the fighting in most rounds; but his retreating, fast-stepping opponent landed by far the most blows. The only semblance of a knockdown occurred in the first round when La Motta's left hook to the body caused Yarosz to slip to one knee when his feet skidded out from under him. Tommy was up without a count.

Yarosz was bleeding from his nose and from a re-opened right brow cut at the final bell.

Henrich, DiMaggio Only Yanks Sure Of Their Jobs

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Yankees today bent an interested ear toward any—well, almost any—trade talk as baseball executives headed for Minneapolis and next week's minor league meetings.

Yankee General Manager George Weiss said he would not trade Joe DiMaggio or Tommy Henrich, but that he would be willing to trade any other players on the club. Furthermore, Weiss added, "we expect some action when Manager Case Stengel and I get together with the other club officials."

Detroit, meanwhile, was clearing its decks for action. General Manager Billy Evans announced that Relief Pitcher Alton Benton has been given his unconditional release. The 31-year-old Benton, with the Tigers since 1938, participated in 25 games last season, winning two and losing two.

Chicago Rockets Battle Yankees

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Rockets and the New York Yankees of the All-America football conference closed their seasons today in Soldier Field.

The lowly "new" Rockets were gunning for their second victory while the Yanks sought to snap a two-game losing streak. Neither eleven had anything to gain other than a consolation prize.

Black Knights of Hudson Turn Down 3 Bids

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — (UP) — Stung with indignation Army football coach Earl (Red) Blaik vehemently denied today that he had "anything" to do with refusing a bowl bid—of which Army had three—because he feared a possible meeting with powerful Notre Dame.

Blaik, who has turned out three undefeated teams at Army within four years, insisted that he "never was much of a bowl man" And he disclosed that when he coached at Dartmouth he personally had turned thumbs down on a Rose Bowl bid.

The Army coach was tight-lipped and grim-eyed as he refuted a New Orleans report that he had turned down a Sugar Bowl bid after Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royal and top academy officials had okayed the trip.

"On Nov. 9, Gen. (Maxwell D.) Taylor announced that we were not interested in post-season games Blaik said "Later Secretary Royal called and asked Taylor what was our stand Gen. Taylor told him we were against such games and it was Taylor's decision not Blaik's."

Three of the top bowls, excluding the Rose Bowl, had invited Army "several times during the past couple of years and also this season Blaik explained

"There are always dirty innuendoes," he snapped.

"We are different than any other institution," the dark-haired coach added "Our boys don't get to go home often Christmas week is about the only time. Then, too they have their written mid-year examinations in December —and it doesn't matter whether you play football or not if you fail them."

That he explained, was the chief reason why Army has refused all bowl offers.

"Football still is incidental at West Point," he said "And it should be I believe the purpose of going to college is to get an education These games extend the season but, more important, they might cause some cadet to flunk out of the academy It wouldn't be worth it if one boy failed."

Blaik made these statements as he appeared to accept the Lambert award for Army as the outstanding team in the east this season.

"But I don't think we'll be back to claim it next year," he grinned, fondling the huge silver and gold trophy. "Remember, we start with Penn State and

Amvets Sponsor Peace Day Services at Lutheran Church

Veterans Invited To Attend

Rites Mark Pearl Harbor Anniversary

Sponsored by the Amvets, a Peace Day worship service will be held tomorrow morning at the First Lutheran church for Mansfield veterans.

The service will be held at 9:45 a. m., regular worship hour at the church, and a special section will be reserved for all Amvets, their families and friends. In addition to his sermon on the theme, "The Man Who Criticized the Church," Rev. Mitchell will extend a welcoming address to the veterans.

In planning the service for Sunday, Amvets had in mind the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7.

Louis Doerr, commander of the veterans organization, said: "We want to keep reminding the people of the sacrifices made in this war. Dec. 7 is a date no American dare forget.

"A constant reminder of this will keep our country and its citizens aware of the dangers that can plunge us into another war. A strong America will guarantee that we will never be caught unprepared again and may well be the final factor in preventing another war."

NATIONAL OBSERVANCE

The day's service will be in keeping with national ceremonies, highlighted by one at Arlington cemetery where national service officers will be in attendance and participate in special rites.

Because it is so close to Pearl Harbor day, Dec. 5 was designated by the National Amvets organization two years ago as "Peace Day." Amvet posts throughout the country have been asked to join in the service.

At tomorrow's service, music will be presented by the Harmony choir under the direction of A. Lemoine Derr. Choir members, including all confirmation classes, will sing, "Glory to God," by Palestrina, and "Divine Thanks," by Niles.

Dedication Services Set

The Bethel Evangelical Congregational church will be dedicated Sunday at 2:30 p. m. with special services.

The dedicatory Sunday will start with rally day at 9:30 a. m. and conclude with special evening services at 7:30 p. m.

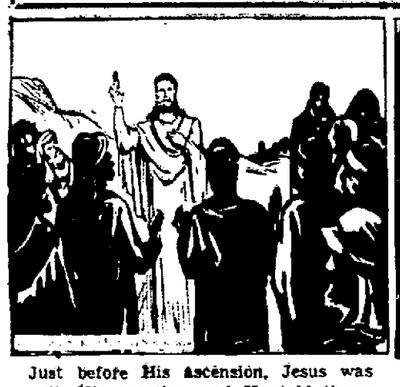
Rev. Paul D. Gordon of Columbus will give the dedicatory address, assisted by Rev. Gus Simpson, pastor of the church. Mansfield ministers will also speak at the various services tomorrow.

The new church is located opposite Arlin field on the West Fourth street road.

History of Church Told in Bible — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 1:8; 2:1-4; 4:1-4; 5:4-17; 28; 11:1-18; 12:1-3; 14:26, 27; 16:1-10; 28:16, 30, 31.



Just before His ascension, Jesus was with His apostles, and He told them: "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem . . . and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

On the day of Pentecost, the apostles being together, suddenly from heaven came a rushing, mighty wind, and there appeared unto them cloven tongues like fire that sat upon each one.

Peter and John preached in the porch of the temple, and the Sadducees, hearing them, were grieved because they preached the resurrection, and they laid hands on them.

Paul, arrested by the Roman authorities, was allowed a house of his own in which he lived for two years, and received all those who came to him.

MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 28:19.

Mission To Move

Group to Occupy Adventist Church

Tomorrow is moving day for the new Lutheran Mission in South Boulevards.

Tomorrow, ceremonies will be held for the first time in the new place of worship, the Seventh Day Adventist church, 152 Cline avenue.

Previously the mission had been holding services in the Temple Emanuel, corner Cook road and Lexington avenue, but a conflict in worship hours has prevented a complete schedule of services for the Lutherans. So Rev. Wray Smith has procured the use of the Seventh Day Adventist church until a church home is built for the Lutheran Mission congregation.

With the change in locale, the mission will hold both a morning worship service at 11 a. m., in accordance with Lutheran policy and establish a Sunday school. The Sunday school will have its first session Dec. 19 at 10 a. m. The same day an adult discussion group will meet at 7:30 p. m., in the parsonage, 603 Westview boulevard.

Rev. Smith said, "We are grateful to the Temple Emanuel congregation for permitting us to worship in its house; now we are equally appreciative of being permitted to meet in the First Seventh Day Adventist church."

Vestry to Meet

Members of the vestry of the Grace Episcopal church will meet next Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the pastor's study. That same evening there will be a meeting of the teachers of the church school in the Undercroft. Mrs. William K. Echols, superintendent of the lower school, Thomas B. Wright and John H. Finefrock jr., will be in charge.
